

About Me

by admin - Monday, July 02, 2012

<http://www.reviewsbymathea.com/about-me/>

You didn't come here to learn more about me, you really want to know what I can do for you, at least that is how I would feel.

I am going to take you on my journey with me. I am addicted to reading, a lot like you I guess. You may have come here based on one of my reviews I have done for a product. I am going to make you part of my addiction and I am actually going to start learning from the ones that I do reviews on. Part of the review process involves me learning more from the author, sort of a small interview that I can use to let you learn more about the writing process and book writing in general. If you are inspired to go out and write like I have been, please let me know! I want to inspire you.

I was inspired to start this blog by Tiffany Dow. I bought her WSO about being a shiny object addict and I got started. Now, if you think I am an expert, I am not. I am just persistent. I started with internet marketing in August of 2010, in an effort to create a business and love around what I want to do. I quickly found that I knew very little. Not surprising, eh? I have attended seminars and bought more than I care to admit of products that I had every intention of using, but never got around to it. Now, I am getting around to it.

I may give you my affiliate link, and you should assume that all links on my blog are affiliate links, at the beginning of the program. This is because I know that some of you are going to join me. If you want to, that is fine. Doesn't mean that I endorse the product yet. Just means that you are welcome along for the ride. I will keep you informed about what I am doing on a regular basis. You are welcome to just read along!

Thanks again, and sign up for our email listing to get new information from our blog weekly.